What is Wilder Nottinghamshire?

Wilder Nottinghamshire is a movement to encourage people to take action for nature. In part, our strategy is to get one in every four people to take action - which behavioural science indicates is the tipping point at which society-wide behaviours can be altered.

KT works on this project in the South of the county, Harri in the North, and Jasmine in the city.

What is Nextdoor Nature?

Nextdoor Nature is a NLHF 2-year long project which aims to kickstart Wilder Nottinghamshire, and embed it in our way of working. Jasmine's role is funded by this project. Nextdoor Nature targets specific areas and communities where nature most needs a helping hand. These areas include:

- Basford
- Berridge
- Hyson Green & Arboretum
- Radford
- St Ann's
- Clifton East
- Dales

What do the Wilder Nottinghamshire/Nottingham Officers do?

The role of the Wilder Nottinghamshire Officers (KT and Harri), and Wilder Nottingham Officer (Jasmine) is to support groups to make space for nature where they live. The focus is on asking people what they want to do, and the projects are built around the needs and wants of the community. Example groups/projects which we are supporting include:

- Wildlife gardening consultations for community gardens/ schools/ allotments/ individuals
- Planting projects to grow a wide range of plants to create food sources and habitat for wildlife
- Community centres creating vegetable gardens
- Groups of neighbours creating a network of wildlife friendly gardens
- A hospital ward which is working on their garden to improve it for wildlife, and doing nature connection activities with patients
- Support and advice regarding eco-community group longevity
- Give talks on wildlife-friendly gardening and nature connection activities to care homes, schools and gardening groups

Some of the groups we are working with have never done anything to do with nature before (e.g. hospital wards, community centres). Whatever their main focus, we are helping them to create habitat for nature, or carry out activities which promote nature connection.
